

Privacy Notice: Conferences, events and commercial activities

This privacy notice applies to anyone whose personal data is processed by St Hilda's College in connection with financial, commercial or similar transactions, including those engaging with the College as a conference client or event attendee, contractor/supplier or service provider.

All Privacy Notices and Records of Processing Activities (ROPA) are published on the College website to show how the College keeps and processes personal data. (<https://www.st-hildas.ox.ac.uk/about-us/governance?tab=privacy-notices>)

1. A summary of what this notice explains

St Hilda's College is committed to protecting the privacy and security of personal data.

This notice explains what personal data St Hilda's College holds about you (as a person involved in business transactions, services, conferences or events in connection with the College), how we use it internally, how we share it, how long we keep it and what your legal rights are in relation to it.

For the parts of your personal data that you supply to us, this notice also explains the basis on which you are required or requested to provide the information. For the parts of your personal data that we generate about you, or that we receive from others, it explains the source of the data.

There are some instances where we process your personal data on the basis of your consent. This notice sets out the categories and purposes of data where your consent is needed.

2. What is your personal data and how does the law regulate our use of it?

"Personal data" is information relating to you as a living, identifiable individual. We refer to this as "your data".

"Processing" your data includes various operations that may be carried out on your data, including collecting, recording, organising, using, disclosing, storing and deleting it.

Data protection law requires St Hilda's College ("us" or "we"), as data controller for your data:

- to process your data in a lawful, fair and transparent way
- to only collect your data for explicit and legitimate purposes
- to only collect data that is relevant, and limited to the purpose(s) we have told you about;
- to ensure that your data is accurate and up to date
- to ensure that your data is only kept as long as necessary for the purpose(s) we have told you about
- to ensure that appropriate security measures are used to protect your data

3. St Hilda's College's Contact Details

If you need to contact us about your data, please contact the Data Protection Officer, St Hilda's College, Cowley Place, Oxford OX4 1DY. Tel: 01865 276803. Email: dpo@st-hildas.ox.ac.uk.

4. What personal data we hold about you and how we use it

We may hold and use a range of data about you at different stages of our relationship with you. We might receive this data from you; we might create it ourselves, or we might receive it from someone else (for example if someone provides us with a reference about you).

Categories of data that we collect, store and use include (but are not limited to):

- The contact details that you provide to us, including names, addresses and telephone numbers.
- Financial information required to process any transactions.
- Records made to comply with safeguarding, health and safety or counter-terrorism legislation, in connection with legal advice of claims, or to comply with auditors' or other regulatory requirements.
- Information from CCTV and security access records, which may be held for a limited period for the purpose of providing safety and security on campus and to assist with the prevention and detection of crime or other unlawful activity.
- Information generated in the course of operating College IT and telephone systems, which may be held for a limited period for the purpose of providing safety and security on campus and to assist with the prevention and detection of crime or other unlawful activity.
- Correspondence and comments relating to our communications or engagement with you in the course of business transactions or event organisation.
- For conference organisers and participants: accommodation and dietary requirements, including any medical issues or disabilities that you have notified to us; photographs, recordings or ICT information (where applicable).

Further categories of data that we hold in relation to commercial, contractual or conference transactions are set out in our Record of Processing Activity, available on the College website.

5. The lawful basis on which we process your data

The law requires that we provide you with information about the lawful basis on which we process your personal data, and for what purpose(s).

Most commonly, we will process your data on the following lawful grounds:

- where it is necessary to take steps (at your request) prior to entering a contract with you
- where it is necessary to perform the contract we have entered into with you
- where it is necessary to comply with a legal obligation
- where it is necessary for the performance of a task in the public interest
- where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests

We may also use your personal information, typically in an emergency, where this is necessary to protect your vital interests, or someone else's vital interests. In a small number of cases where other lawful bases do not apply, we will process your data on the basis of your consent.

How we apply further protection in the case of "Special Categories" of personal data
"Special categories" of particularly sensitive personal information require higher levels of protection. We need to have further justification for collecting, storing and using this type of personal information.

The Special Categories of personal data consist of data revealing:

- racial or ethnic origin
- political opinions
- religious or philosophical beliefs
- trade union membership

They also consist of the processing of:

- genetic data
- biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying someone
- data concerning health
- data concerning someone's sex life or sexual orientation

We may process special categories of personal information in the following circumstances:

- where processing is necessary for the purposes of performing or exercising obligations or rights which are imposed or conferred by law on St Hilda's College or you in connection with employment, social security or social protection, or
- with your explicit written consent, or
- where it is necessary in the substantial public interest, in particular:
  - for the exercise of a function conferred on St Hilda's College or anyone else by an enactment or rule of law, or
  - for equal opportunities monitoring
- where the processing is necessary for archiving purposes in the public interest, or for scientific or historical research purposes, or statistical purposes, subject to further safeguards for your fundamental rights and interests specified in law.

We have in place appropriate policy documents and/or other safeguards which we are required by law to maintain when processing such data.

Less commonly, we may process this type of information where it is needed in relation to legal claims or where it is needed to protect your interests (or someone else's interests) and you are not capable of giving your consent, or where you have already made the information public.

Criminal convictions and allegations of criminal activity

Further legal controls apply to data relating to criminal convictions and allegations of criminal activity. We may process such data on the same grounds as those identified for "special categories" referred to above.

Details of our processing activities, including our lawful basis for processing

Details of the lawful bases we rely on for the processing of the categories of data that we hold in relation to applicants for office, senior membership and employment at St Hilda's College are set out in our Record of Processing Activity, available on the College website.

6. Data that you provide to us and the possible consequences of you not providing it

In most cases, the data you provide to us will be a necessary requirement of your transaction with the College, and is processed by us in order that we, and you, can comply with obligations imposed by law. For example:

- Financial information must be provided as part of any contract between us for the provision of services or access to facilities.
- Details of event organisers and guests, including details of organisations represented and event purpose must be provided to us under the contract in place between us, in order that we can properly manage St Hilda's College facilities and ensure that our facilities are not used to further illegal or inappropriate aims.

Other sources of your data

Apart from the data that you provide to us, we may also process data about you from a range of sources. These include but are not limited to:

- data that we generate about you during the course of our communications or transactions with you
- data from people attending conferences, meetings or events, or those undertaking work on College premises
- data from our IT or CCTV systems related to security processes
- data received from third parties who have an interest in or connection with your organisation (for example, banks who provide us with your details when payments are made or received by St Hilda's College)

Our Record of Processing Activity indicates the sources of each of the various categories of data that we process.

7. How we share your data

We do not, and will not, sell your data to third parties. We will only share it with third parties if we are allowed or required to do so by law.

Examples of bodies to whom we are required by law to disclose certain data include, but are not limited to:

- Who: Agencies with responsibilities for the prevention and detection of crime, apprehension and prosecution of offenders
  - Why: For the prevention, detection or investigation of crime, for the location and/or apprehension of offenders, and/or for the protection of the public (in cases where there is a duty on us to report)
- Who: HM Revenues & Customs (HMRC)
  - Why: Real time information released to HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) in order to collect Income Tax and National Insurance contributions (NICs) from employees

Examples of bodies to whom we may voluntarily disclose data, in appropriate circumstances, include but are not limited to:

- Who: Other Colleges and/or PPHs within the University of Oxford, University offices and/or departments
  - Why: Where events or transactions are progressed on a joint basis
- Who: Agencies with responsibilities for the prevention and detection of crime, apprehension and prosecution of offenders, or collection of a tax or duty
  - Why: For the prevention, detection or investigation of crime, for the location and/or apprehension of offenders, for the protection of the public, and/or to support the national interest
- Who: Third-party service providers
  - Why: To facilitate activities of St Hilda's College. Any transfer will be subject to an appropriate, formal agreement between St Hilda's College and the processor

Where information is shared with third parties, we will seek to share the minimum amount of information necessary to fulfil the purpose.

All our third-party service providers are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies, and are only permitted to process your personal data for specific purposes in accordance with our instructions. We do not allow our third party providers to use your personal data for their own purposes.

Sharing your data outside the European Union

The law provides various further safeguards where data is transferred outside of the EU.

When you are resident outside the EU in a country where there is no "adequacy decision" by the European Commission, and an alternative safeguard is not available, we may still transfer data to you which is necessary for performance of your contract with us.

Otherwise, we will not transfer your data outside the European Union without first notifying you of our intentions and of the safeguards that apply to your data.

8. Automated decision-making

We do not envisage that any decisions will be taken about you based solely on automated means, however we will notify you in writing if this position changes.

9. How long we keep your data

We retain your personal information for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purpose of satisfying any legal, accounting or reporting requirements.

Details of expected retention periods for the different categories of your personal information that we hold are set out in our records of processing activities.

Retention periods may increase as a result of legislative changes, e.g. an increase in limitation periods for legal claims would mean that St Hilda's College is required to retain certain categories of personal data for longer. Any such changes will be reflected in updated versions of our Record of Processing Activity.

If there are legal proceedings, a regulatory, disciplinary or criminal investigation, suspected criminal activity, or relevant requests under data protection or freedom of information legislation, it may be necessary for us to suspend the deletion of data until the proceedings, investigation or request have been fully disposed of.

Please note that we may keep anonymised statistical data indefinitely, but you cannot be identified from such data.

10. Your legal rights over your data

Subject to certain conditions and exception set out in UK data protection law, you have:

- The right to request access to a copy of your data, as well as to be informed of various information about how your data is being used.
- The right to have any inaccuracies in your data corrected, which may include the right to have any incomplete data completed.
- The right to have your personal data erased in certain circumstances.
- The right to have the processing of your data suspended, for example if you want us to establish the accuracy of the data we are processing.
- The right to receive a copy of data you have provided to us, and have that transmitted to another data controller (for example, another University or College).
- The right to object to any direct marketing (for example, email marketing or phone calls) by us, and to require us to stop such marketing.

- The right to object to the processing of your information if we are relying on a “legitimate interest” for the processing or where the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest. The lawful basis for any particular processing activity we carry out is set out in our detailed table of processing activities (ROPA).
- The right to object to any automated decision-making about you which produces legal effects or otherwise significantly affects you.

Where the lawful basis for processing your data is consent, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. This will not affect the validity of any lawful processing of your data up until the time when you withdrew your consent. You may withdraw your consent by contacting the Data Protection Officer, St Hilda's College, Cowley Place, Oxford OX4 1DY, dpo@st-hildas.ox.ac.uk, 01865 276803.

If you wish to exercise any of your rights in relation to your data as processed by St Hilda's College please contact our Data Protection Officer. Some of your rights are not automatic, and we reserve the right to discuss with you why we might not comply with a request from you to exercise them.

Further guidance on your rights is available from the Information Commissioner's Office (<https://www.ico.org.uk/>). You have the right to complain to the UK's supervisory office for data protection, the Information Commissioner's Office at <https://www.ico.org.uk/concerns/> if you believe that your data has been processed unlawfully.

11. Future changes to this privacy notice

We may need to update this notice from time to time, for example if the law or regulatory requirements change, if technology changes or to make the St Hilda's College's or University's operations and procedures more efficient. If the change is material, we will give you not less than two months' notice of the change so that you can exercise your rights, if appropriate, before the change comes into effect. We will notify you of the change by e-mail or on our website.
